

Is MAKE THAT DEUX a true story? No, but it is based (loosely!) on a true story.

What does Jenny believe about couples being “meant to be”? Or about “The One”? Jenny believes in serendipity. She also agrees with Lisa, that if you're meant to be, you're meant to be. And she does believe that someone out there is The One.

Why doesn't Jenny travel more in France?

1. She has very little money and wants to use her Eurail pass to visit as much of Western Europe as possible.
2. She is an idiot.

How come many of Phil's letters are in MAKE THAT DEUX, but none of Jenny's? Does she write him every week? I used bits of my own experience when I left my boyfriend behind to spend a year in France when I wrote Jenny's story. Since my boyfriend and I corresponded, I kept all of his letters, and they are the inspiration for Phil's letters. Alas, my boyfriend didn't keep my letters, even though I wrote to him frequently.

Have you ever driven a moped, hitchhiked or sunbathed topless? I don't remember.

Are you afraid of heights? Yes. I get really anxious on escalators and elevators, too.

Did you go to all the places Jenny did in Europe? Of course!
